

Welcome to our first issue for 2023!

April is the best time for planting everlastings!

April is the best month! There is a good chance it has rained, or is coming soon. You can control any pesky weeds, then plant your seeds without them growing too tall and leggy! Don't forget to control the snails as well 🌸

Grab a packet now!

So excited to supply our retailers with NEW display boxes. Great feedback so far, especially coupled with give-away information brochures with growing instructions. Designed by @louisavincentsdesign and @percivalprint.

Community Service Projects in Laos

- School Fundraiser -

Help support the communities in Laos when our Penrhos girls fulfil a community service trip in November 2019

Everlastings are...

- Water-wise, bold and beautiful
- Easy to grow with 100% germination rate
- Australian native, they are not an environmental weed
- Long flowering from July to November, depending on season
- Self-seeding which do not require further plantings once established
- Long lasting seed, is viable for at least 10 years

Everlastings can be used for...

- Garden bed features, driveways, pot plants, road verges, cut or dried flowers and as a special gift.

EVERLASTINGS - pick your own!

This is beautiful Hannah and Josh. Their reception was filled with beautiful everlasting flowers.

You can pick AS MANY as you'd like. Fresh flowers available August through until October.

The Crooked Carrot in Myalup. Beautiful cafe and wonderful people. They picked these bunches themselves to sell in their shop. Great idea!!

Pick your own.... 'Such a great experience!' 💕🌸

Everlasting cleaning

A picture of the cleaning process for everlastings. These are the backs of the yellow centres which must all be removed. such pretty shapes!!

This is the beautiful clean seed for placing into packets.

DOWN ON THE FARM

This is our loader, ready for clearing away fallen trees and branches in preparation for seeding wheat, canola and barley again.

Seeding is nearly upon us again! A little bit of rain, and we are ready to roll! This is a Morris airseeding bar.

🌸 Get ready to plant Everlastings!...
